

It's your career.
Where will you take it?

Interns – Transfer Pricing

Tax at Deloitte is about creative thinking and innovative solutions to our client's business issues. Virtually every business decision today has tax consequences and our clients deserve the most practical, tuned-in and well-crafted tax solutions. We work for a very broad range of clients from big financial institutions to smaller innovative enterprises. Our clients come to us for innovative solutions and we deliver valued advice on the most pressing tax issues.

Our Transfer Pricing service line is well positioned for growth and Interns are needed to support the team in delivering quality advice to the client and pursue new business opportunities.

As an Intern of the Transfer Pricing team, your main tasks will consist in:

- Research international and domestic tax and business matters;
- Involved in advising clients in a range of different industries or transfer pricing matters:
  - Transfer pricing planning;
  - Functional and economic analyses;
  - Implementation of transfer pricing strategies;
  - Advance pricing agreements;
  - Transfer pricing documentation and benchmarking analyses.

The right candidates should meet as many of the following requirements:

- Students in their final years, or fresh graduates with a relevant major, e.g. Finance / Accounting, Business Administration, Economical Engineering, etc.
- Very good analytical skills and business awareness;
- Excellent command of Romanian and English - both speaking and writing;
- Very good interpersonal and team-playing skills;
- Strong oral and written communication skills;
- Previous exposure to business environment and/or involvement in extracurricular activities will be appreciated;
- Well organized and able to identify and juggle with priorities;
- Very good usage of MS Excel.

Should you be interested in this challenging opportunity, please send your CV to filip.iorgulescu@fin.ase.ro no later than 20 February 2015.

Note that only selected applicants will be contacted.